

Description of the Temple Bridge Diversion From Marlow walking towards Hurley Lock

As you come out of the churchyard at Marlow, Pic I, turn left at the red brick pillar and cross the road at the bollards Pic J.

Walk across Marlow Bridge on the right side of the bridge Pic K, and onto Bisham Road Pic L

Stay on the pavement through the village of Bisham and fork right Pic M onto Temple Lane, which is just past the entrance of the Bisham Abbey National Sports Centre.

Temple Lane is a narrow road with no pavement. Please take care and walk on the outside of the sharp bends, one to the right and the next to the left. Use a torch if you're walking at night. Continue past Marlow Sailing Club and houses in Temple Lane. Pic N.
